

A long-eared bat went to buy a hat
Said the hatter: "I've none that will do,
Unless with the shears
I shorten your ears.
Which might be unpleasant to you."
The long-eared bat was so mad at that,
He flew over land and seas,
Till in Paris (renowned
For its fashion) he found
A hat that he wore with great ease.
